

Hi ,

Today is the last day to sign up for the holiday card exchange so don't miss out!

Click on the card swap image below and you'll be taken to Elfster.

Yes, you'll have to give your address, but the only people who will see it is your card swap buddy and me, because I'm sending everyone a card.

All winter holiday cards are welcome!

I've also put the next five books in the series up for preorder. I was having one of those days where I just didn't want to write more, so I made covers and uploaded everything to Amazon. You can order them now and they'll arrive (almost, dare I say it - magically) on your Kindle once they're published.

Thanks for joining me in spreading cheer this winter season!
